The Creative Consciousness® Master curriculum is recognized by the International Coach Federation (ICF) as an Accredited Coach Training Program (ACTP). Moreover, Consciousness Coaching® Academy is a member of COMENSA, (Coaches and Mentors of South Africa) and is locally accredited by the Services SETA. In addition to the ICF-accredited Master coaching curriculum, Creative Consciousness® offers a range of special interest programs and corporate solutions. Creative Consciousness® sees coaching as the art of conducting any human interaction in such a way that all parties are left empowered, uplifted and more enlightened than before. Coaching enables individuals to identify outcomes; embark on a personal journey of learning and experience; find balance in life; develop awareness of body, mind, spirit, and focus on strengths to create shifts that propel one's life in the desired direction. Coaching can be made into a profession and a career. However, coaching is much more than that – it is a way of life. Creative Consciousness® truly believes in the power of human beings and dedicates its work to helping its clients achieve happiness, abundance and bliss.

Creative Consciousness® vision and mission statement:

Consciousness Coaching® has been created as a passionate and authentic commitment to empower individuals and organizations globally to raise and expand consciousness and bring people together such that love and contribution to the Whole can become a worldwide reality.

Marc Steinberg MCC

Founder, MCC and Master Trainer of the Consciousness Coaching® Academy, Marc Steinberg has been empowering and inspiring people on their way to personal growth, spiritual fulfillment and success for more than two decades. Born in Munich, Germany, in 1959, he spent his youth searching for enlightenment. Having made his “Outer Million” easily at an early age, Marc soon realized that he was missing its intangible counterpart, which he called “The Inner Million”. He duly set off in search of it, initially by spending time in an Indian monastery. From there, the quest for enlightenment took him through many countries and years of in-depth engagement with disciplines including psychotherapy, ontology, yoga, Sanskrit and Indian philosophy, hermeneutics, Zen meditation, acting, fire walking as well as transformational coaching and training. Having found what he was looking for, Marc returned into the world and since then has been a successful entrepreneur and thought leader. Marc started coaching in the USA in the 1980s and returned to his native Germany in 1990. There he began to develop his unique and truly powerful brand of coaching called Consciousness Coaching®.

After ten years in Germany, Marc took Creative Consciousness® to Spain where he continued his success. In 2002 he established CCI (Creative Consciousness® International) in Cape Town, South Africa, with the aim of enabling people around the world to create authentic and sustainable levels of consciousness, competence and holistic success for themselves.

Marc’s applied philosophy is based on the Benedictine credo that all external changes begin internally in the human being, and his mission statement since 1991 has been: “Contributing to a global revolution in consciousness through facilitating awareness and consciousness development programs combined with 1st class coach training powered by the internationally accredited Consciousness Coaching® methodology”.

Marc is the founding president of the Cape Town Chapter of the ICF – the International Coach Federation. He was elected as a board member and the representative of the African continent in the ICF Global Forum and he became South Africa’s first member of the WABC, the Worldwide Association of Business Coaches.

Marc accomplished to get CCA Consciousness Coaching® Academy the highest international coach training credential: ICF's "ACTP" accreditation.

In 2008 published his first English book "Sinclair", an autobiographic novel about a man's search for enlightenment.

In 2010 Marc developed a Creative Consciousness® franchise model to make the work available for global expansion. Moreover, Marc received the probably most prestigious coaching credential in the world: MCC issued by the ICF (Master Certified Coach by the International Coach Federation).
